

PROVE IT RESTRICTION ACT 2025

1. Introduction This Prove It Restriction Act ("Act") establishes guidelines for the appropriate use of the phrase "prove it" within Fengri. The Act seeks to prevent the misuse of the phrase in frivolous or nonsensical situations while preserving its use in genuine circumstances.

2. Acceptable Use

- The phrase "prove it" may only be used in situations where verification of a claim is reasonable and necessary.
- Acceptable contexts include legal disputes, contractual obligations, scientific discussions, and other legitimate inquiries requiring evidence.

3. Prohibited Use

- The phrase "prove it" shall not be used in scenarios where the request for proof is unnecessary, redundant, or made in bad faith.
- Examples of prohibited use include, but are not limited to:
 - When someone states an obvious fact (e.g., "The sky is blue." → "Prove it.")
 - When evidence is already clearly available or widely accepted.
 - When used to derail a conversation without genuine intent to seek proof.

4. Enforcement and Penalties

- Any person found violating this Act shall be subject to a fine of F$5 per offense.
- Reports of violations may be submitted to the appropriate local authority for review.
- Repeat offenders may be subject to additional scrutiny and penalties as determined by the appropriate local authority.

5. Amendments and Modifications

- The government of Fengri reserves the right to amend this Act as necessary. Any modifications will be communicated through official channels.
- Continued residence in Fengri under an amended version of this Act constitutes acceptance of the revised terms.

6. Governing Law

- This Act is governed by the laws and regulations of Fengri.
- Any disputes arising under this Act shall be resolved in accordance with Fengri's legal framework.

7. Severability

- If any provision of this Act is found to be invalid, illegal, or unenforceable, the remaining provisions shall continue in full force and effect.
- The invalid, illegal, or unenforceable provision shall be replaced with a valid and enforceable provision that most closely reflects the original intent.
